Important Note: While every effort will be made to meet an applicant's preferences, there's no guarantee that this will happen. Please be advised that should this happen, your final bill will reflect your final housing assignment: in other words, if you send initially a bill for a single room and stay in a double one, you will be refunded the differential; similarly, if you send a bill for a double room but eventually stay in a single, you will be charged the differential.

Your housing assignment will not be finalized until Admissions receives your refundable housing security deposit of $200.
